BIENNIAL BURMA STUDIES COLLOQUIUM AT NORTHERN ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY, OCTOBER 30 - NOVEMBER 1, 1992:

The Biennial Burma Studies colloquium was organized by the Center for Burma Studies at NIU. Our appreciation goes to Richard Cooler, CBS Director, and his staff for hosting the group so warmly. The group met in the new Burma Gallery which featured an exhibit from the William Bennett Collection. The Colloquium was well attended by both 'old' and 'new' scholars of Burma.

The colloquium's program is reprinted below. Please contact the speakers directly if you wish to obtain copies of papers of particular interest to you. The Center for Southeast Asian Studies plans to publish papers presented at the Colloquium in a forthcoming special issue of Crossroads.

BURMA STUDIES FOUNDATION:

Trustees of the Burma Studies Foundation met on Friday, November 30 to discuss diverse issues including avenues for increasing support for scholarship on Burma. New trustees include Anna Allott, Ward Keeler, Melford Spiro, Charles Keyes, Paul Sarno, and Juliane Schober.

OTHER CONFERENCES ON BURMA:

The Center for the Study of Australia-Asia Relations in conjunction with the Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade held a conference on "The State, Order, and Prospects for Change in Burma" at the Nathan Campus of Griffith University (Nathan, Brisbane 4111, Australia) on December 3-4 1992. Papers will dealt with internal political developments, the economy, ethnic minorities, Burma's international relations, and the potential for conflict resolution. Speakers included Senator Gareth Evans (Australia's Minister of Foreign Affairs and Trade), Prof. David Steinberg (Georgetown University), Bertil Lintner (Far Eastern Economic Review), Prof. Chai-Anan Sumudavanija (Chulalongkorn University), Dr. Martin Stuart-Fox (Univ. of Queensland), and Dr. Connie Peck, Institute for Peace Research, La Trobe University).

This above was written by Paul Kratoska for SEANET, a listserv network, from which I took the announcement.

Annemarie Esche sent information on another international conference planned for May 7 to 9, 1993 at Humboldt University, Berlin and entitled "Tradition and Modernity in Myanmar." Potential participants will include an international array of scholars and other persons concerned with studies in Myanmar. Papers are invited and will be delivered in English. They should be no longer than 20 minutes to allow for discussion and the maximum number of presentations. Subsequent publication of conference papers as a special volume is envisioned. Board and lodging expenses will amount to about DM 100 per day. In the event that the organizers' efforts to raise funds are successful, expenses may be reduced respectively. Otherwise, they are to be paid fully by the participants themselves. As a rule, travelling expenses cannot be met by the conveners. A few exceptions may be considered as far as they can dispose of the necessary funds. For further information, please contact the conference organizers, i.e. Annemarie Esche and her colleagues at: Humboldt Universitaet zu Berlin, Fachbereich Asien - und Afrikawissenschaften, Suedostasien-Institut, August-Bebel-Platz 2, 0-1086 Berlin, Germany.
